If you've been forgetting your words lately here are some new ones you could use:

Reintarnation: coming back to life as a hillbilly.

Sarchasm: the gulf between the author of sarcastic wit and the person who doesn't get it.

Glibido: all talk and no action.

Osteopornosis: a degenerate disease.

Karmageddon: it's like, when everybody is giving off these really bad vibes, right? And then, like, the Earth explodes, and it's like, a serious bummer.

From the President

Hello again to all U3A members! I hope you're enjoying our lovely winter weather? Well, we certainly needed the rain, although we could do without those dreadful winds. For myself, I was in the Kimberley so missed the worst of it.

I hope you have all enrolled in at least one of the fabulous Semester 2 courses on offer! Many thanks to our course leaders and especially to Jenny Bunbury and Anne Del-Fante for organising such a varied and interesting programme.

We are especially grateful to the course leaders who have offered their own home or business in which to run the course. This has saved us a lot of angst trying to find venues.

My thanks go to all office volunteers, committee members and course leaders. A great combined effort.

Thank you!
Margaret Leggott.

Introducing: Margot Edwards

Margot is offering "Story Gathering – Finding/ Writing/Telling Stories of our Time" in Oct/Nov

As a writer and editor, Margot Edwards has been practicing her craft across many genres for over 30 years and hopes to do so for at least 30 more. She loves to write, teach and mentor personal writing projects, short prose, blogs and social commentary. She brings her passion for weaving tales to modern myth-making in writing, improvising and performing literary folklore, using magic realism and point-in-time inspirations.

Her blog <https://spongedoll.wordpress.com> speaks to the world she inhabits as a writer delivering 'old souls, new visions', drawing from an eclectic mix of styles and inspirations.

As a playwright and an active member of SW Edge Performance Writers, Margot is involved in developing shared opportunities for writing and performance of micro-theatre in the South West. As an editor and professional mentor, she is currently working on three exciting projects including the 30 year tribute to the Organic Garden: 'Wednesday's Garden'; and two important literary memoirs from close colleagues, both set amidst internationally historical realities with vast humanitarian themes. Margot also runs an artist residency from her Margaret River home property, Zani Place:
